ma White, James Taylor and Emma Garrett, Alex Ward and Magazie Moody, Wesley Harria, and Phillis Warflect. Abe Mansfield and Caroline Edwards.

—The police authorities are on the lookout for a white man named James Brown, who on the twelfth instant shot and killed the mershal of Lake Providence, Louisiana. Brown is a flatboalman, and on the night in question he and a number of boatmen were on a spree and attempted to take the town. When the marshal attempted to make an arrest Brown shot him dead and fled from the city.

—The trouble between the English cotton buyers in our market and the railroad freight ngents was amicably settled by a conference between a special committee of the cotton buyers in our market and the railroad freight would drive them from this market to St. Louis, the difference being as follows: Freight from St. Louis to Liverpool 45d and ½ per cent. insurance. This discrimination was in favor of St. Louis, but at the conference the matter was arranged in a satisfactory manner, and the English buyers of cotton in our market are satisfied.
